Resume not found

Love writing code, meh about documentation...

So, of course, the thing that I put off on this project is actually writing a resume.

You get to have this stand-in document instead, while I am doing all the exciting code-writing.

Cause I'd rather make something functional and awesome than list my awesomeness for others to read on a resume... and then hire me... so I can code more awesome things...

Okay, yes, I can see how documentation is important...

// TODO: Write a resume

Ps: HIRE ME
